Learn practices related to researching and requesting federal funds for a specific project.

Who should take this course?
Anyone interested in project and research funding, grant-making agencies, requests for proposals, proposal formats, logic models, and collaborative writing.

Do I need research experience?
Research experience is not needed to enroll, but students should be interested in federal grants, either for their own (future) work or to gain valuable writing knowledge to support others.

What will we do in this course?
You'll learn the nature of public-sector grants, their lifecycles, where to find them, and application requirements. You'll also practice writing parts of a proposal (individually and within teams), engage in peer review, and deliver pitches to other teams in the class.

This course fulfills the writing-intensive requirement.